West Goshen Township Welcomes Three New Supervisors

History was made at West Goshen's January 3, 2012 Annual Organizational Meeting, as three new supervisors were sworn in.

In November 2010, West Goshen residents voted in a ballot referendum to expand the Board of Supervisors from three to five. In addition to two new supervisors, Township residents had to vote for a replacement for outgoing Board member Edward G. Meakim, Jr. in the November 2011 general election. At the Organization Meeting on January 3rd, the Honorable District Judge William D. Kraut swore in Philip J. Corvo, Raymond H. Halvorsen, and Theodore J. Murphy, Esq. as new West Goshen Supervisors.

Philip Corvo settled in West Goshen Township in 2004 after work had taken him and his wife on a tour across the United States. He had purchased First State Plastics, a recycling company in New Castle, Delaware, and was looking to move back into the Delaware Valley, where both he and his wife had grown up. He chose West Goshen because "It seemed like a good place to live." Corvo was familiar with West Goshen Township since he had attended West Chester University and taught biology there in 1975 and 1976.

Because his work kept him and his family moving frequently, Corvo had never gotten involved in politics until recently. In 2010, he led the petition drive to expand the West Goshen Board of Supervisors from three members to five. "That was as civic as I'd ever become," explains Corvo. "I got a compressed education in civics."

Corvo says his intention was not to run for Supervisor, but after the ballot measure to expand the Board passed, he was pressed to run by supporters of the motion.

"Going door to door, getting a lot of signatures, I met a lot of interesting people, some of which have become personal friends. I hope the next six years

West Goshen Makes List of Top Places to Live (Third Time in a Row!)

In its September 2011 issue, Money Magazine rated West Goshen Township as the 25th best place to live in the United States.

This marked the third consecutive time West Goshen appeared in the Top 25 of this biennial list, making West Goshen Township one of eight municipalities nationally to be thrice recognized.

"I've lived here 46 years, and I love West Goshen," said Edward G. Meakim, Jr., Chairman of the West Goshen Board of Supervisors at the time of the announcement. "With us going sixteen out of eighteen years without a tax increase and with our mixture of residential and business, West Goshen is the best place to live and work." ★ build on that."

Corvo says he is looking forward to the opportunity to serve his fellow residents. "This is all about, at some level, service, and I think it will be an interesting journey. I'm looking forward to it."

Raymond Halvorsen had previously served as a West Goshen Supervisor from 1987 through 2001. His family moved to West Goshen in 1963. He grew up in a civic-minded household, with his mother serving over twenty years as the Township's first full-time secretary. A business owner who volunteered his time as judge of elections, Halvorsen joined the Planning Commission in 1984 before running two years later for Supervisor. Since 2001, Halvorsen has served as the Township's Public Works Director.

Goshen Leisure Development II

Location: 21 Hagerty Boulevard: East of Route 202, North of Hagerty Boulevard

The proposed plan reflects 164,150 square feet of flex office and warehouse buildings to be located at 21 Hagerty Boulevard.

ROAD RULES

Changes for Junior Drivers

In each issue of the Township Newsletter, the West Goshen Police Traffic Safety Unit will provide information for drivers, focusing on sections of the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code or other traffic safety issues.

In an effort to enhance safety on Pennsylvania roads, Governor Corbett and the Legislature have agreed on changes to the Vehicle Code involving graduated driver licensing requirements, passenger restrictions for junior drivers, and passenger restraint laws. The new rules in Act 81 of 2011 took effect on December 27, 2011. The changes to the law were initiated to help junior drivers receive more comprehensive training, ease young driver distractions through limiting the number of passengers they may carry, and improve general highway safety through improvements to passenger restraint laws.

Changes to Junior Driver Training: Act 81 increases supervised, behind-the-wheel skill building for learner's permit holders under eighteen years of age who have passed the road driving skills test after December 27, 2011 from 50 hours to 65 hours. Ten of the added hours will consist of nighttime driving, while the other five additional hours must be driven in poor weather conditions.

Changes to Junior Driver Passenger Restrictions: Act 81 places increased restrictions on the number and age of passengers which a junior driver license holder may transport. Current law limits drivers under the age of eighteen to transporting no more passengers than the number of seat belts in the vehicle. As of December 27, 2011, for the first six months after receiving a junior driver's license, a driver is not permitted to have more than one passenger under age eighteen who is not an immediate family member (brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister of the junior driver and adopted or foster children living in the same household as the junior driver) in the vehicle unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Anyone not convicted of a driving violation and who has not been partially or fully responsible for a reportable crash after six months may have up to three passengers under age eighteen who are not immediate family members without a parent or legal guardian present. Junior drivers with convictions or who are partially or fully responsible for a reportable crash during the first six months are once again restricted to one passenger.

Changes to Seat Belt Requirements: Drivers and occupants in a vehicle who are under the age of eighteen must wear properly adjusted and fastened seatbelts, and children under the age of eight must be securely fastened in a child restraint system. Failure to comply with the new law's seatbelt provisions is a primary offense, meaning that a driver can be pulled over and cited solely for that violation. ★

BABY IT'S COLD OUTSIDE!

As the seasons begin to change and your family migrates indoors for the winter, a lot of energy can be wasted to keep your family and your home comfortable. Between 40 and 70% of all home energy is wasted, but we could save about half of that by buying efficient appliances and taking energy-saving measures.

The 10 Biggest Energy Users

- Water heaters
- Freezers
- Ranges
- Clothes dryers
- Portable heaters
- Refrigerators
- Air conditioners
- Clothes washers
- Dishwashers
- Lights

And here are some inexpensive solutions to consider:

Cover your air conditioner: If you can't remove your window unit, consider covering it both inside and out. Besides protecting your air-conditioning unit, these covers also help keep cold air from entering your home through the space around the air-conditioner and can be a great way to lower utility bills.

Caulk it: Small spaces and gaps around windows and pipes and wires entering the home create energy wasting drafts that can cut the efficiency of your heating system. Most caulking products cost under $10; rope caulk, one of the easiest types to apply, sells for about $4 for 40 or 50 feet.

Block drafts: Draft blockers are foam plates that fit behind light switches and electrical outlets to reduce drafts that enter through those spaces. You can get a packet of 10 for about $3 and they're easy to install with just a screwdriver.

Install heat reflectors: These are thin sheets that fit behind radiators, to reflect heat away from the wall and into the room, thereby maximizing each radiator's energy efficiency.

Upgrade your thermostat: Changing your thermostat to a programmable one allows you to control the temperature in your home at different times of the day without you being home. Keep the heat off when you're out of the house and set it to turn back up before you get home. Some also have a second set of settings for weekends, when people usually spend more time at home. The thermostats range from $90 to $175, but can save 12% or more on your energy bill and pay for itself within three years.

Reflective Window Film: Place these thin, plastic sheets directly on the inside of window panes and glass doors. The film reflects inside heat back into your home, reducing the amount that is conducted outside through windows. The film costs about $10 a window and is easy to put on—it adheres to the window directly, or with the help of water from a spray bottle.

Storm Window Kits: It can be expensive to have storm windows installed throughout your house, but there is a less-expensive way to weatherproof home windows. Storm window kits consist of plastic film or sheets to cover the window. Attaching the plastic is done with tape or tacks. Prices range from about $3 to $10 per window.

Weatherstripping: Create a tight seal around all your windows to reduce heated and cooled air from escaping outside. Weatherstrips are plastic, foam, felt or rubber strips that fit around window and door frames with a self-adhesive backing. Prices vary, but average about $5 per window or door.

Who Are You Going to Call?

Citizens can use the hotline box below to help report violations or problems they notice in their local streams before they cause more damage and pollution. You may be the first to recognize "illicit", nonpermitted discharges—typically any flows other than rainwater—being directed into storm sewers or out of pipes into streams. "Dry weather flows", defined as flows from stormwater outfall pipes after a 48 hour period without rain, should also be reported for further investigation.

Part of Our Community

On January 3, 1994, Edward G. Meakim, Jr. was sworn in as a West Goshen Township Supervisor. He would continue to serve the Township in that post for the next eighteen years until January 3, 2012.

Ed Meakim had moved into West Goshen Township with his wife Helen in September 1965. They found the Township an ideal setting to raise their four children. An executive with the Philadelphia Electric Company from 1961 through 1991, Ed would also spend many of his autumn weekends refereeing college and select high school football games. In the early 1990's, Ed decided he wanted to give back to his community by getting involved in politics.

“Ed and I met in the West Goshen Township parking lot during his campaign bid for Supervisor,” recalled current West Goshen Supervisor Raymond H. Halvorsen, who also served on the Board of Supervisors from 1987 until 2001. “We struck up a conversation and instantly became friends.”

According to Halvorsen, Ed Meakim has three qualities that made him a successful Supervisor:

“Ed for the most part was a quiet leader. One of his strongest attributes is he is an unselfish person who is willing to make tough decisions for the majority of people, even when people are upset.

“You can just tell his love of this Township and the employees who serve the residents.

“He’s always available to anybody. He’ll always call you back.”

Raymond Halvorsen emphasizes Ed Meakim’s interpersonal skills when dealing with the public. “He’s very much a people person.”

Dr. Robert S. White, who joined the West Goshen Board of Supervisors in 1996, also expressed admiration at Ed Meakim’s genuine affection for dealing with the public. “Ed has feelings for everybody. He does not have bad feelings for anyone.”

Both Raymond Halvorsen and Dr. Robert White point to Ed Meakim’s love of West Goshen Township as the driving force in his political career.

“He loves West Goshen Township,” said Halvorsen. “He wanted to do everything he could to make it a great Township.”

During Ed Meakim’s tenure on the Board of Supervisors, West Goshen Township was rated by Money Magazine as one of the 25 best places to live in the magazine’s last three rankings. According to Dr. White, “Ed ensured the fact that we were rated so high.”

Raymond Halvorsen lists the completion of Community Park and the renovation of the West Goshen Municipal Complex as two of Ed Meakim’s greatest achievements as Supervisor. Ed’s daughter Helen Forrest also points out another source of pride: “One of his greatest accomplishments was to not have any tax increases in sixteen of his eighteen years.”

“Everything we’ve accomplished in the last eighteen years, he’s been a major part of,” said Dr. White.

“He’s going to be sorely missed as a friend and a public servant,” added Raymond Halvorsen.

According to Halvorsen, Ed Meakim will continue working for Prudential Fox and Roach Realty and enjoy spending more time with his eleven grandchildren. ★ because the referendum passed to expand the Board to five,” explains Halvorsen. “I felt I could be a helpful addition to a five-man Board of Supervisors, and I could help with the restructuring with my experience here as both an employee, a resident, and a past board member.”

Halvorsen discussed his return to the Board of Supervisors: “The main thing is to contribute in a positive way to the new leadership of West Goshen Township, and to sustain the standards that we work real hard to establish.”

Raymond Halvorsen will serve as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors in 2012.

Theodore J. Murphy, Esq., has lived in the West Chester area for the past 25 years and has called West Goshen Township home since 2000. An army veteran and immigration lawyer who earned his JD and Master’s of International Law Degree from Temple University, Murphy spent nearly eleven years as a prosecutor for the U.S. Department of Justice and Homeland Security before starting his own law firm in 2008.

Murphy has been active in local community affairs, volunteering for several years with the Boy Scouts and serving with the West Goshen South 1 election board. He explains that he has maintained an interest in municipal government but, as a federal employee, was prohibited from running for local office under the Hatch Act. Now that he is no longer employed by the federal government, he looks forward to serving his home community.

“My goals are to maintain West Goshen as one of the best places to live in the country,” says Murphy.

Corvo, Halvorsen, and Murphy are joined on the Board of Supervisors by Dr. Robert S. White, who has held the elected office since 1996, and Vice-Chairman Patricia B. McIlvaine, a Supervisor since 2002. ★

ROONIE SAYS...

Top Mistakes made by Pet Owners

Even the best-intentioned pet owner can make mistakes in the care of his or her dog or cat. WebMD lists the top 25 risky mistakes well-meaning pet owners often make. In each issue of "Roonie says..." over the course of this year, we'll share with you some of these mistakes and recommendations of ways to overcome them.

Letting Your Dog Walk You: A poorly trained dog can pull you over while you're out for a stroll. According to the CDC, tens of thousands of people end up in the ER every year because of pet-related falls. Many of these falls occur during walk—either when a person trips over a dog or is pulled or pushed by one. Experts say obedience training is the best way to make sure your pooch doesn't take you down during the morning walk.

Overlooking Ticks: After a walk in the woods, you check yourself for ticks, right? Don't forget about your dog. Tick bites put your dog at risk for Lyme disease, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and a handful of other diseases. They can also cause serious illnesses in cats. If your pet has infected ticks, this puts the rest of the family at risk. If you find a tick, remove it carefully with tweezers. And ask the vet about anti-tick medicine.

Ignoring Ringworm: If your pet has a round bald patch, ringworm could be to blame. Leave this fungus untreated, and you're putting your family at risk. People can get ringworm from dogs or cats by touching their skin or fur. Ringworm causes a reddish, ring-shaped rash on the skin or bald spots if it infects the scalp. If you suspect your pet has ringworm, see your vet promptly.

Not Bothering to Deworm: Roundworms are common parasites in both dogs and cats. They cause diarrhea and vomiting and may lead to serious illness. But many people don't realize these worms are a threat to humans, too. An infected pet can contaminate soil or sand with tiny eggs. Kids may ingest the eggs by putting dirty fingers in their mouths. When the worms hatch inside people, they can cause blindness and other tissue damage. Ask your vet about regular deworming.

Skipping Flea Medicine: Skip your pets' flea medicine, and they aren't the only ones who will pay the price. Fleas will quickly set up shop on untreated pets, particularly in summer and fall. A little snuggle time can transfer the pests to you. Some people wind up covered in itchy sores. Fleas can also transmit serious diseases to people including bubonic plague. Ask your vet about once-a-month flea medication and put a monthly reminder on your calendar.

Not Spaying or Neutering Your Pet: Millions of cats and dogs live on the street or end up euthanized because of unwanted litters. Still, many people are reluctant to spay or neuter their pets. The fact is, spaying and neutering is a healthy choice for your pet. It reduces the risk of breast cancer in females and testicular cancer in males. Neutered males are also less likely to run away from home, mark their territory, or exhibit aggressive behaviors.

What to Know When It Snows

West Goshen's Streets Department oversees the clearing of 93 miles of roads in the Township.

Township roads are divided into twelve routes, each with an assigned crew of drivers.

Hills, intersections, and curves receive salt first due to the potential traffic hazards they present. Then all other areas are salted and plowed.

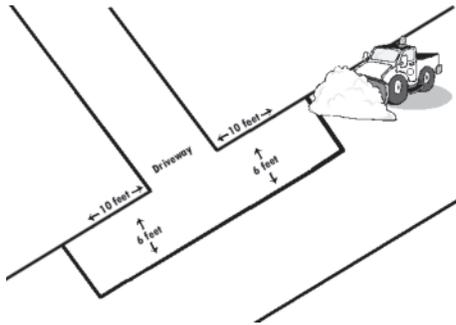

Drivers begin one pass in each direction on streets and one pass into and out of cul-de-sacs. Once an initial clearance is made on each roadway, drivers commence with the process of pushing snow back to the road's edge and cleaning out cul-de-sacs.

Cul-de-sacs and roads need to be kept free of parked cars from the time snow starts until the roads are cleared. In the case of steep driveways, park at the mouth of the drive, but off the road. If a car is parked on a roadside or cul-de-sac, we may not finish plowing that street, but return several hours or even the next day to complete the work.

A mailbox within a foot of the pavement and/or mounted at a height of less than four feet is most likely to be damaged by the weight of snow being pushed from a plow. Take time to make sure your mailbox is sturdy enough to withstand the weight of snow being pushed into it and keep the front of your mailbox four to six inches behind the curb line to avoid it getting knocked over. (See illustration.) Make sure to clear snow from all walkways, stairs, and paths to mailboxes. For confirmed cases of mailboxes being damaged by plowing operations, West Goshen Township will provide a new black or white mailbox and a wooden post.

When shoveling your driveway, leave the last six feet of your drive unshoveled until the plowing has ceased. This unshoveled part will allow the snow being pushed by the plow to remain on the plow and not dumped into your drive. If you must shovel out your drive, clear a six foot area of the road that is directly in front of the mouth of your drive. In addition clear an area ten feet before and after the mouth of your drive, so that when the plow comes through, it will unload snow that it is pushing in the cleared area and not in the mouth of your drive.

Placing shoveled, blown, or plowed snow from driveways, sidewalks, or parking lots onto public streets is extremely dangerous and is a violation of Chapter 70 ("Streets and Sidewalks") of the West Goshen Code, punishable by fines up to $1,000 per day. The ordinance also prohibits piling snow into storm gutters.

Problems may be reported to West Goshen Township at 610-696-5266 between 7:00 AM and 5:00 PM on Mondays through Thursdays. Please leave your name, address, phone number, and the nature of the problem. Calls received after 3:00 PM may not be acted upon until the next business day. On Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays or after 5:00 PM, emergencies may be reported to the Police Department at 610-696-7400.

PennDOT clears the following streets: Boot Road, Fern Hill Road, Greenhill Road, S. High Street (Business Route 322), E. Marshall Street, Montgomery Avenue, Paoli Pike, Phoenixville Pike, Pottstown Pike, Strasburg Road, West Chester Pike (Route 3), Westtown Road, and Routes 100, 202, and 322. Derry Lane and Sorber Drive, are cleared by the developers. ★

Safety Tips by Fire Marshal Andrea Testa

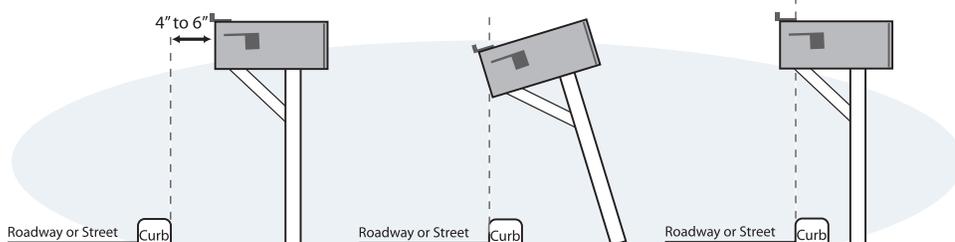

Do Not Hang Up When Calling 9-1-1 if You Receive a Recording

Occasionally, usually during severe storms with wide-spread power outages, more 9-1-1 calls are made than can be answered. During these times, after a few rings the caller will receive a recorded message letting the caller know that they have dialed 9-1-1 and all telecommunicators are busy. The recording will instruct the caller to stay on the line, except if they are calling to report a power outage. If this is the case, the caller will be instructed to call their electric provider.

Even during these busy times, callers should not hang up once they have dialed 9-1-1. Even with a hang up, we still receive your phone information, and have to call back and verify that you do not need assistance; this COULD DELAY HELP FOR SOMEONE ELSE WHO NEEDS IT.

If you dial 9-1-1 by error, simply let the call-taker know when he or she answers the call. The call-taker may ask some questions to verify that the call was dialed in error and that you truly do not need help.

If you have questions about calling 9-1-1, you may contact the Chester County Department of Emergency Services at 610-344-5000 and ask to speak with someone in the 9-1-1 Operations Division or Public Information Officer.
